OLMSTED'S PATENT STOVE.

THIS STOVE was invented and patented by Professor Olmsted of Yale College. It was originally designed for study chambers, but being found equally well adapted to family apartments, it came immediately into extensive use among the inhabitants of New Haven, and the demand for it here and elsewhere is rapidly increasing.

It is at present made chiefly of SHEET IRON, this material being esteemed on all accounts the most eligible; but it may be constructed either wholly or in part of cast iron should that be preferred.

The chief peculiarity of this stove, consists of substituting for the open pipe usually employed to distribute the heat generated by anthracite coal, an apparatus called a RADIATOR, which though of comparatively small dimensions, has an effect in absorbing and distributing the heat produced by coal equal to that of a very long pipe. By this means, the unsightly appearance of a stove pipe, traversing the apartment, is avoided, while the saving of material greatly diminishes the expense. The Radiator consists of two concentric cylinders having a narrow space of half an inch to an inch between them, through which the heated current is made to circulate in its passage from the chamber of combustion to the chimney. The current is thus brought CLOSELY INTO CONTACT with the two contiguous surfaces; heating at once the outer and inner cylinder. The former sends it heat into the apartment by direct radiation; the latter being open at the top and bottom, causes a current of air to flow through it like the chimney of an Argand lamp. The air within being rarefied by heat, flows out in a continual current at the top, while the colder air of the apartment flows in at the bottom, and becomes heated in turn. This adds greatly to the effect, contributing more indeed towards heating an apartment, than the direct radiation from the surface, and equalling the temperature in a remarkable degree.

The objects aimed at in the construction of this Stove are to be SIMPLE, so that domestics can easily manage it; to be quickly kindled; to be capable of affording either a MILD or an INTENSE HEAT, according to the state of the weather, to preserve the AIR of the apartment PURE AND WHOLESOME, to avoid all inconveniences from DUST, and finally, to be CHEAP and ECONOMICAL.

It is confidently believed, that this stove fulfils as many of the conditions, as any one now invented, and to a degree attainable only by an inventor, like the present, long and intimately acquainted with the laws of heat.

The CHAMBER STOVE is usually from 9 to 16 inches in diameter, and from 24 to 30 inches high. Its position is commonly on the hearth, or the usual place of the andirons. The fireplace being closed up, two pipes, one from the back of each cylinder, enters the wall thus formed, (or a sheet iron fireboard,) each pipe being furnished with a damper. This variety is adapted to student's rooms, offices, and particularly to NURSERIES, affording as it does, peculiar facilities for warming liquids, or medicinal preparations.

The PARLOR STOVE has two radiators, and is capable of warming the largest rooms in ordinary houses.

The HALL STOVE is adapted to situations where a communication is made with a distant flue by means of a long pipe, as in halls, stores, &c. One ton of fine and half a ton of coarse coal, is an adequate supply for the chamber stove, for one season. Two tons is a full allowance for the parlor stove, when made of the usual dimensions.

To be had only at No. 8, Central Street.

AMERICAN MUSEUM.

THE American Museum of Literature and the Arts, will combine the solidity of a review with the lighter miscellany of a magazine; besides impartial reviews of important works and short notices of minor literary productions by the editors, it will embrace essays, tales, historiettes, poetry, literary and scientific intelligence, and translations from standard and periodical works in other languages, contributed by some of the ablest writers of the day.

The Magazine will also contain a series of reviews of such writers as have, by their talents, shed lustre upon American literature. The reviews will be accompanied by portraits of the authors, engraved on steel, by the best artists. The work will be beautifully printed, with new type, upon fine paper, and will make two volumes each year, of more than 500 pages each.

Agencies will be established in the periodical cities, and arrangements made to deliver the work free of postage. As the Museum is printed on a medium and a half sheet, the highest postage that can be charged to any part of the country, for one year, will be $1 05 cents. Persons desirous of acting as agents, will please apply post paid. Terms $5 per annum, payable on the delivery of the first number.

RICHARDSON'S DICTIONARY OF THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE,

Parts 19 and 20, this day published.

There is not a work, either of general practical utility, or of philology in particular, that has so largely united the suffrages of the public press in its favor, as this Dictionary. Both in Europe and in America it has received the meed of general approbation. The compiler has assumed the principle of Horne Tooke, that each word had originally but one meaning, and that all the result of combination, modification, or the mutability to which language itself is subject. In the plan of this Dictionary the Compiler has adopted the rule which Dr. Johnson originally proposed for his own government, viz: that of giving first the primitive meaning; then the consequential, and afterwards the metaphorical; accompanying his definitions by quotations, commencing with the earliest authorities and bringing them down to the ... dates. Mr. Richardson has performed his task with fidelity and skill, ... judicious, and he has bestowed, in this work, a boon to literature greater than any that has been presented since the days of Johnson himself.

The publication of this work which was suspended in consequence of the pressure upon the mercantile world is now resumed, and the work being ... will be completed in ...

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11, 1838.

Abolition Day. The Plot Developing.

Mr. Premier Haynes made an attempt, this morning, to get up the President's Message, in Committee of the Whole on the State of the Union, but was not permitted. Other fish had his party to fry to-day, of which he was not advised. He could not get two-thirds of the House to suspend the rules, at his request. Whereat, wasn't he chop-fallen?

The States were called in order for petitions. Maine being called, memorials of unimportant characters were presented by several members from that State; and upon New Hampshire being called, Mr. Atherton of that State, rose and asked the house to permit him, at that time, to introduce a series of resolutions which he held in his hand. They were read for information of the house, and proved to be pretty much the same thing over again, as Pinkney's and Patton's resolutions, of which you have a very distinct recollection, doubtless. To their introduction at that time there was objection made: whereupon the mover proposed the suspension of the rule, (requiring a vote of two thirds,) for that purpose; and the rules were suspended, two to one. The resolutions were introduced, and were sustained by the mover, in a set speech. As soon as he had concluded it, he moved the previous question! Thus cutting off, (if his motion prevailed,) all debate.

Wise of Virginia immediately rose, however, and repudiated the resolutions, (framed as they were, introduced as they were, and attempted to be passed by force as they were,) as a Southern representative. He viewed them but as a trap, to catch the south in a party net. He demanded that the south be heard on that floor, with regard to these resolutions; that he had an amendment to offer to them, and that he should denounce them at home as the surreptitious snare of the party that brought them forward. He asked the mover to withdraw the motion for the Previous Question. Atherton refused.

Tillinghast said that it was uncourteous to make a speech and conclude with such a motion; would not the gentleman withdraw, for a short time, his motion? But Atherton was peremptory.

The previous question was recorded, 103 to 102, by one vote, after a call of the house had been gone through with, showing 223 members present. The main question was ordered to be put, 114 to 107 and, on request of a member, the resolutions were ordered to be taken severally.

Pending the first, there were many calls for adjournment, &c. &c. Questions of order were raised, discussed, and settled, and then several members gave reasons why they should not vote on this question. These were all Southern Whigs, who very properly viewing this as the result of a party caucus, for the purpose of carrying on the Van Buren and Calhoun bargain, as something of the midnight oil, as concocted at the White House, and as being drawn artfully and insidiously, as traps for southern representatives, &c. &c. protested against them entirely. Besides, they had not been printed, hardly read, not understood containing numbers hardly new what, and sought to be passed on the spur of the moment, at the dictation of Party. Wise, Underwood, Jenifer, Stanley and Christopher Williams, made these and other objections, and refused to vote on the question.

The first resolution, declaring that Congress has no power or jurisdiction over the question of slavery, in the States where it exists, was then put, and passed in the affirmative 198 to 5. Those who voted in the negative, were Adams, Evans, Everett, Potts, Russel, and Slade. The gentlemen who were present but did not vote, were Calhoun of Mass., Darlington of Pa., Fletcher of Me., Gallup of N. Y., Hastings of Mass., Jennifer of Md., Noyes of Me., Pearce of Md., Peck of N. Y., Reed of Mass., Sergeant of Pa., Stanley of N. C., Tillinghast of R. I., Underwood of Ky, and Wise of Va. And besides these 15, there were absent (from town) or sick, Earle, Cleveland, Halsted, Henry, Hoffman, Halsey, Ogle, Owens, Prentiss, Prentiss, Richardson, Vanderveer, Weeks, Lewis Williams, and Worthington, being 15 more.

Recapitulation.

There may be some error in the above, I write in haste, but no material one.

The House then adjourned. And so opens the abolition ball this session. Who is so blind as not to see to the very depth of this shallow design, this wretched plot? The plot of a Northern President, affecting southern principles for his own ulterior personal ends! And is the whole south and south-west to be thus taken in, cajoled, and cheated? No! high contracting parties, a President that is, and a President that would be. An attempt to show to the south that the Van Buren men at the north are their true friends, and the Whigs there their foes, because Van Buren Representatives thence may be bought up like swine in the market, and their votes disposed of, at the beck of their master, the Executive, who, by these means, bids for southern support! Every step in the affair shows that this is the true definition of the intrigue. The resolutions were drawn up by Barnwell Rhett, of South Carolina; decided on in caucus, not of southern men, (who might seem to be the parties most deeply interested,) but of Van Buren north and south men, and Atherton of New Hampshire, (not a slave-holding-State man, but a northerner,) selected as the organ of communicating them to the House. This was, indeed, "northern interference," with a vengeance!

The first resolution of the five, (the gag of the previous question having been applied,) was as follows:

Resolved, That this Government is a Government of limited powers, and that, by the Constitution of the United States, Congress has no jurisdiction whatever over the institution of slavery in the several States of the Confederacy.

This was decided in the affirmative yesterday, by a vote of 198 to 6.

The second was as follows:

Resolved, That petitions for the abolition of Slavery in the District of Columbia and the Territories of the United States, and against the removal of slaves from one State to another, are a part of a plan of operations set on foot to affect the institution of Slavery in the several States, and thus indirectly to destroy that institution within their several limits.

This was the first business in order this morning.

Mr. Biddle, of Pennsylvania, rose and asked to be excused from voting on this proposition; and, under the rule of the House, would briefly give his reasons for making the request. They were personal reasons, and should be given in good faith. He had no wish, the previous question having been ordered, to introduce surreptitiously, by this pretence, a debate upon the resolutions. He felt that he had a right to ask a body of honorable men, that they would not so construe the rules of that House as to expose him to odium and reprobation among his constituents. During the late contest in Pennsylvania, interrogatories had been proposed to candidates, upon this subject, and

The chair interrupted Mr. Biddle at this point, and warned him that the rule confined him to a statement of reasons for asking to be excused.

Mr. Biddle was about to state reasons personal to himself, why the House should extend indulgence in this respect, to him, situated as he was. He was about to remark, he said, that, in reply to these interrogatories, he had expressly stated it to be his opinion, that all interference with this question of slavery in the District of Columbia was inexpedient and improper. And now

The chair again interposed.

Mr. Biddle would put it to the Speaker and to the House, if he was not right in showing, that a good reason existed for his not voting upon this resolution, inasmuch as, unexplained, his vote would seem inconsistent with his former declarations?

The chair decided that, if permitted to do this, the whole question of the merits of the resolution would be virtually opened.

Mr. Biddle resumed his seat. The House refused his request to be excused.

Now here, Messrs. Editors, is one among many proofs that this debate has afforded, that the plot was so contrived, as, purposely, to keep out the true state of the abolition question, as it is connected with party, at the north, from the discussion. Who is so blind, or so stupid, as not to see its whole drift? And who so worse than blind and stupid, as to be deceived by it, north or south?

Pending the second resolution, during the call of yeas and nays upon it, Wise refused, audibly, to vote upon the question at all.

Cushing made a point of order, that the next House could not, under the rule, be called, till Mr. Wise was either excused from voting, or had voted. At the suggestion of the Speaker, he reserved the point till a future occasion.

The second resolution was then adopted, by a vote of 136 to 65. The vote of the Maine members was as follows

Yeas Anderson, Fairfield, Parris.

Nays Davee, Evans, Noyes, Robinson, and Smith.

Alexander Duncan, who, you will remember, was a strong abolitionist, when electioneering at home, for his return to the House, at the 26th Congress, voted YEA!

The third resolution was as follows

Resolved, That Congress has no right to that indirectly which it cannot do directly, and that the subject of Slavery in the District of Columbia, or in the Territories, as a means or with the view of disturbing or overthrowing that institution in the several States, is against the true spirit and meaning of the Constitution, an infringement of the rights of States affected, and a breach of the public faith on which they entered into this Confederacy.

On the suggestion of Mr. Bond, this was divided, and the question ordered to be taken on the first clause of the same. This clause was adopted, 173 to 30. And then the vote was taken on the remainder of the resolution, resulting in its adoption, 164 to 39. [illegible] of the Maine delegation being,

Yeas Anderson, Davee, Fairfield, and Parris.

Nays Evans, Robinson, and Noyes.

[illegible]

He said he insisted his vote recorded in the negative. This however was refused by the House.

[illegible]

to discriminate between the institutions of one portion of the State or another, with a view of abolishing the one or promoting the other.

Mr. Lincoln of Mass. rose and said that this resolution was susceptible of a division. The first clause of it was notoriously false. Instead of "the broad grounds of equality," every body knew that this government was based on a compromise between the States.

The division requested was ordered, and the result of the vote on the first branch was 180 to 26. [illegible] of Maryland said he should vote for it, protesting, however, against the vile grammar in which it was couched! This made a great laugh, and set Atherton and Rhett at loggerheads as to which ought to feel most ashamed of the rebuke, the latter as the writer, or the former as the presenter of the resolution.

Mr. Chambers of Kentucky also had a little [illegible] that his name was not Chamm-bers, but Chame-bers. Roar of laughter!

The second part of the fourth resolution was adopted, 174 to 20.

The fifth and last resolution was as follows—

Resolved, therefore, that all attempts on the part of Congress to abolish Slavery in the District of Columbia, or the Territories, or to prohibit the removal of Slaves from State to State, or to discriminate between the Constitutions of one part of the Confederacy and another, with the views aforesaid, are in violation of the Constitutional principles on which the Union of these States rests and beyond the jurisdiction of Congress; and that every petition, memorial, resolution, proposition or paper touching or relating in any way or to any extent whatever, to Slavery as aforesaid, or the abolition thereof, without any further action thereon, be laid upon the table without printing, reading, debate, or reference.

Randolph of New Jersey suggested a division of the resolution into two clauses. Ordered accordingly.

Wise moved to suspend the rules of the house, so as to render this resolution amendable, for the purpose of moving to strike out the words "with the views aforesaid." He wanted to try his Southern (Van Buren) friends in this issue. He would vote for the resolution, if thus modified.

The Chair said that the Previous Question having been ordered, this could not be done.

Wise then said, "these words, "with the views aforesaid" have sold the south!"

The first clause of the fifth resolution was decided thus 146, 52. Vote of the Maine delegation, as follows

Yeas. Anderson, Fairfield, Parris.

Nays. Evans, Robinson, Noyes.

Did not vote Smith, Davee.

Mr. Potts of Penn. then moved to lay the last division of the last resolution on the table. On this question the yeas and nays were ordered, and it resulted thus Yeas 85, nays 129. Vote of the Maine delegation, Yeas. Davee, Evans, Robinson, Smith.

Nays Anderson, Fairfield, Parris.

Did not vote. Noyes.

Duncan, the Van Buren abolitionist, "went the whole hog", against laying on the table!

Here Jenifer of Maryland remarked that the passage of this clause would expressly and explicitly concede the very point that, hitherto, Southern members had contended against viz: the reception of the petitions.

Pope of Kentucky made the same suggestion, as the reason why he could not vote for this clause.

Chambers also made this point, and all three of these gentlemen asked to be excused, on these grounds, from voting. But the house refused the request!

The clause was carried, 126 to 78; the Maine delegation voting thus

Yeas Anderson, FAIRFIELD, Parris

Nays Davee, Evans, Noyes, Robinson.

Did not vote. Smith.

Mr. Rhett then moved an adjourned, which motion prevailed.

I have been thus minute and particular in my account of this day's work, because I think it one of the most remarkable that has ever happened in the annals of American Legislation.

But I do not believe that the plot can work as its concocters desire and expect. To think thus would be to asperse the common sense of the Southern portion of this great people in the most unwarrantable manner. I do not think them such consummate fools. This plot, like all John C. Calhoun's political plots, and all the experiments of Martin Van Buren's administration, must explode, to the injury of no one but its contrivers.

You of course will duly notice the positions taken by your representatives on these questions. Anderson and Parris seem to have followed, with dog like scent the path in which dictation went before their noses; Fairfield has shown himself quite the sort of thing for a Van Buren vice-roy of a sub-principality in the great Party, and is no doubt quite ready to give up Kelleran, if demanded by the Governor of Georgia; Smith has done his duty, up to the mark, and deserves favorable mention in this list therefor; Davee has shown that he is capable, at times of following other counsel than that of party-dictation. While Noyes and Robinson have but realized what was expected of them by their several constituencies. Evans, too, the long-tried, faithful, never-swerving man, from Kennebec, [illegible] yet has done that deed as a Representative of the People, which was not the result of deliberate conviction of its propriety, which was not the manly, upright, honest act of an independent patriot, has stood firm from beginning to end of this struggle; without any shadow of [illegible] or shade of turn [illegible]

[illegible]

We have dates from Harrisburg to the 12th The Senate on the 11th elected a Clerk, and afterwards proceeded to count the votes on the adoption of the new Constitution. The majority in favor of it was found to be 1919. On the 12th all was quiet. The Speaker of the Senate announced the Standing Committees. The votes for Governor were officially canvassed. David R. Porter had 127,821 votes, and Joseph Ritner 122,325. Porter's majority 5496. The two sections of the House of Representatives [illegible] Van Buren section sent a proposition to the Senate, to go into the election of a U. S. Senator, which proposition the Senate declined.

A MURDERER EXECUTED A Serious Warning. Austin Squires, the man who brutally murdered his wife, at Rochester, was executed within the walls of the jail on Thursday, in the presence of the usual officers designated by the statute, and twelve other citizens. He exhibited no fears, and prayed to the last. This man insisted to the last moment that the crime he committed was done under the influence of liquor, and was not the deliberate act of his will.

INDIANA. The Legislature of this State assembled on the 4th inst. Thomas L Evans was elected Speaker by a majority of eighteen votes, over Gen. Robert Hanna, both distinguished Whigs. The preference is supposed to have turned on the internal improvement system of the State, the successful candidate being a system man, and Gen. Hanna a friend to a modification of it.

SOUTH CAROLINA.—Patrick Noble has been elected Governor of this State. The vote stood Noble 96 Elmore 58. Dr. Thomas Smith was elected Lieut. Governor, and Angus Patterson President of the Senate.

Death of Commodore Nicholson. The Baltimore American of Thursday announces the death of Commodore J. J. Nicholson, who died at his residence in that city on Wednesday evening, about seven o'clock, of appoplexy, after only a few hours illness.

A large meeting has been held at Buffalo in opposition to the Neutrality Enforcing law. It is estimated by the Mercury that there were 609 persons present. A preamble and resolutions were adopted, and a memorial to Congress, praying for a repeal or essential modification of the Law.

Col. A. Green (Whig) has been elected a member of the Senate in Illinois, to supply the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of a Van Buren member.

A detachment of U. S. troops at Detroit have taken 12 boxes of arms belonging to the Patriots, which they found in the woods, and in a small house near the river Rouge.

Further news from the Patriots have been received, such as the taking of Fort Malden and the capture of 175 prisoners, which needs confirmation.

The Patriot Commander Gen. Van Shoultz was hung at Kingston on the 7th inst.

FROM THE WESTERN FRONTIER.

DAILY ADVERTISER EXTRA.

DETROIT, Dec 4.

This morning about 2 o'clock, the Patriots having stolen the steamboat Champlain, succeeded in effecting a landing on the Canada shore, a few miles above this city, and marched down to Windsor immediately opposite this place, where they burnt a British Steamboat and several building, we believe occupied as a military depot. They were opposed by the militia stationed there, and a skirmish of some severity ensued, after which the fighting ceased; the British retreated below and the Patriots marched up the river. Reinforcements were immediately expected from Sandwich, and bloody work may be expected soon. The Patriots it is said number between two and three hundred.

Much excitement prevails in town. It is said by persons who came over in a boat after the skirmish, that 17 of the militia were killed, and several wounded, and that a large number of the militia joined the "patriots." Loss on the part of the patriots, one killed and two wounded. A detachment of United States Troops with two pieces of ordinance under the command of Major Payne are now on board of the Erie. They will prevent any further accessions being made to the 'Patriot army.'

what odd capers their daughters sometimes cut when from under their guardian wings.

On a signal being given by the music, the gentleman seizes the lady round the waist. The lady scorning to be outdone in courtesy, very politely takes the gentleman round the neck, with her arm resting against his shoulder to prevent encroachments. Away they go, about, and about, and about.

"About what, sir?"

"About the room, madam, to be sure."

The whole economy of this dance consists in turning round and round the room in a certain measured step; and it is truly astonishing that this continued revolution does not set all their heads swimming like a top, but I have been positively assured, that it only occasions a gentle sensation, which is marvellously agreeable. In the course of this circumnavigation, the dancers in order to give the charm of variety, are continually changing their relative situations. Now, then, the gentleman, meaning no harm in the world I assure you, carelessly flings his arm about the lady's neck, with an air of cavalier impudence; and anon, the lady, meaning as little harm as the gentleman, takes him round the waist with most ingenious modest languishment to the great delight of numerous spectators and amateurs, who generally form a ring, as the mob do about a pair of Amazons pulling caps, or a couple of fighting mastiffs. After continuing the divine interchange of hands, arms, and so forth for half an hour or so, the lady begins to tire, and "with eyes upraised," in most bewitching languor, petitions her partner for a little more support. This is always given without hesitation. The lady leans gently on his shoulder, their arms entwine, in a thousand seducing, mischievous curves, don't be alarmed madam, closer and closer they approach each other, and in conclusion, the parties being overcome with ecstatic fatigue, the lady seems almost sinking into the gentleman's arms, and then

"Well, sir, what then?"

"Lord, madam, how should I know?"

GENUINE BUFFALO OIL.

THE HAIR! THE HAIR! THE HAIR!

THE greatest ornament to the human body is a splendid head of hair. It has recently been discovered that the genuine Buffalo's Oil is a sovereign remedy for baldness, prevents the hair from coming off, promotes the growth, continues the luxuriance, and improves the beauty. It is far superior to any other animal or vegetable oil, and in case of fever, where the hair becomes dry and begins to fall off, there is no application more effectual in restoring its beauty and rendering it in a healthy state.

It is put up at a low price, (37 1-2 cents) that all classes can have access to it. None genuine unless put up in flat bottles, with HAIR OIL impressed in the glass. Also, to prevent imposition, it will be signed by the Proprietor, Wm. Brown, 481 Washington, corner of Eliot Street, Boston.

It removes all [illegible] them to be allied. It is considered by the inhabitants of Massachusetts, particularly in the city of Boston, where it is [illegible], and where the fortunate inventor resides, one of the greatest benefits to mankind that was ever discovered. It will remove this [illegible] Brown's Extract of Gall and Kreosote, and observe his signature as [illegible] counterfeits, all others are [illegible] for this invaluable preparation. CITIZENS OF BANGOR

BEAR FOR A MOMENT FORGET THAT BRANDRETH'S PILLS

Can never be obtained, Genuine, of Pedlers or Druggists. They invariably sell Base Counterfeits! calculated to injure and therefore ruin the Genuine article! Remember! Go to SMITH & FENNO'S,

Where you can be certain of the Genuine Article, B. BRANDRETH, M. D.

"PUBLIC OPINION IS SELDOM WRONG." Junius.

PUBLIC OPINION. Public opinion is perhaps the only [illegible] there is no appeal; and was there ever such a manifestation of its approval, as there is with Brandreth's Vegetable Universal Pills? Step by step has this medicine wormed itself into favor, in spite of envy, derision and scorn. Triumphant has been its progress to its present sphere of extensive usefulness. It has surmounted obstacles before which quackery sinks paralyzed and has gained for itself a reputation which neither Physicians, nor Empirics, sordid, counterfeiting apothecaries can ever injure. These charlatans, nevertheless, no doubt [illegible] the malignant shafts of their despicable envy, and which rebounds upon themselves with a power each day on the increase, until they themselves will be covered with the shaw of their own manufacturing. They can no more injure the reputation of Brandreth's Pills than they can put their hand upon the sun;

"Or with polluted fingers tarnish it!"

If to discover the cause and nature of disease: if to make a medicine universal in its powers, and universal in its curative effects upon every kind of malady, proved by the cures performed upon thousands of persons, restored to the blessings of health: if to do these things be praiseworthy, then is Dr. Benjamin Brandreth entitled to the praise of this and each succeeding generation. By the means he points out, chronic infirmities and premature death are prevented. What are the means? Simply Vegetable Purgation, and it is now an established fact that there is no other way by which a REAL CURE can be effected.

John Dorr's County Agency being discontinued by mutual consent, Sub-Agents in Waldo, Penobscot, Hancock and Washington Counties, will hereafter receive their supplies from Mr. JOHN O. LANGLEY, Dr. Brandreth's duly authorized Travelling Agent, or from the New England Office.

19 HANOVER STREET, 19.

The ONLY Office in Boston for Dr. BRANDRETH'S VEGETABLE UNIVERSAL PILLS.

How to be secure from Counterfeit Pills purporting to be Brandreth's Pills.

STOREKEEPERS' SECURITY. All persons who are authorized to travel for Doctor Benjamin Brandreth have invariably the power of attorney from him proved before the Clerk of the County of New-York. Without this is exhibited, touch, taste, nor handle.

STILL FURTHER.—Dr Brandreth's Travellers never require the money in advance. Dr. B's terms being Medicine to be paid for when sold.

SECURITY TO THE PUBLIC. Observe that the certificate is dated this year, Eighteen hundred and thirty eight, in figures, and see that such figures are engraved, not written.

Inquire whether the power of attorney was seen when the Pills were left, &c.

All Pills having Wm. Brandreth on the label George Hodgkinson on the edge, are counterfeits, made to Deceive the Public and evade the law at the same time.

These, and indeed ALL counterfeit Pills, if used according to the direction, which accompany my Pills, are calculated to destroy life. They are made by men having no standing or respectability, without habitation or name, perfectly careless of consequences, provided money is obtained. Extract from Dr. B's address to citizens of U. S.

And be careful to remember that I have never authorized any Doctor, Druggist, Apothecary or Pedlar in the U. S. to sell my pills. These contemptible persons universally sell counterfeits, and that all Tradesmen who are made agents, have each of them a copper plate certificate of agency, signed in writing with a pen by me; and which certificate requires renewal every twelve months, it being no guarantee for more than one year from date. Observe the date is not written, it is engraved.

B. BRANDRETH, M. D.
241, Broadway, New York.

N B All travellers from me have a Power of Attorney, proved before the Clerk of the County of New York. Observe it.

Dr. Brandreth at a very great expense, established the following offices for the exclusive sale of his Vegetable Universal Pills, which he begs to be understood shall be always equal to what they have been, and that no expense shall be spared in their manufacture. This he guarantees on his honor.
